Lahore School Dramatics Society
Orientation 2015

The orientation for Lahore school dramatics society took place on Tuesday 15th September 2015. The orientation started by a brief introduction of the new council members and then there was a brief description of the society and its past achievements and the events that LSDS has been a part of, this introduction was then cut short by the realization that this society is all about showing what we do and not talking about it. This year Maham Tasadaq became the President and Sachal Tehsin as Vice President of the society. With this, two videos were played for the audience, the first one was all about why people should be a part of this orientation and what change what that make and second one was about what people in university think about the society and what the members actually do in the society. After this, the rest of the society was introduced, they were sitting among the audience. After this volunteers from among the audience were called out so a brief introduction of what we plan to teach them through workshops could be given, first “action reaction” was demonstrated, after which “guess the character” and lastly “prop box”. After these activities the audience was shown a slideshow of the work the council has been doing for the past three years.

Lahore School 4th Annual Play 2016

After telling the comic fable in Fools by Neil Simon last year, Lahore School Dramatics Society in Lahore School of Economics had returned and organized not one but two plays that promised fun and a joyful evening on 11th and 12th April 2016. This year 2 theatrical performances took place; Punjabi classical folklore Heer by Warish Shah and a farcical comedy Charley’s Aunt by Brandon Thomas.

It has been 250 years since Waris Shah’s magnum opus, Heer was written in Malka Hans, Punjab. The qissa undoubtedly stands at the centre of the Punjabi literary tradition, echoing across time, across genres, reinventing itself through the works of poetic giants such as Madhu Lal Hussain, Bulleh Shah and Sachal Sarmast. In addition to its intellectual value, Heer Waris has also had a vibrant performative life, animating Punjab’s folk tradition and consciousness through popular music and theatre. Today, the place of Heer Waris in the local imaginary is shrinking rapidly, making it more important than ever to re-visit the monumental epic to try to re-vitalise the historical cultural links which Punjab has lost.

In Charley’s Aunt Jack Chesney loves Kitty Verdun and Charley loves Miss Amy Spettigue. They invite the ladies to meet Charley’s wealthy aunt from Brazil, “where the nuts come from”. Cancelling her visit at the last minute, the millionaire aunt sends the boys into cataclysmic confusion. What do they do now? The problem is solved by drafting their feckless Oxford undergrad pal into a black satin skirt, bloomers and wig. As “Charley’s Aunt”, this charming frump is introduced to the ladies, to Jack’s father and to Stephen Spettigue, Amy’s guardian. When the real aunt turns up, classic comic confusion ensues as Fancourt Babberley, posing as “Charley’s Aunt”, tricks Spettigue into agreeing to the marriage of his ward, the real aunt marries Jack’s father, Jack gets Miss Verdun, and Fanny Babs regains the fortune he lost at gambling as well as the girl he loves.

Both the plays were directed by Faheem Muzaffar and assistant directors were Maham Tassadaq and Ahsan Sohail. Considering that many of the actors and actresses were performing for the first time on stage, their efforts were worth commendable. At the end of the plays the entire cast and society received a gesture of appreciation for the amount of talent that the young students had displayed on the stage.

Lahore School Society of Literature
Orientation 2015 (LSSL)

Lahore School Society of Literature organized its orientation on 8th September 2015. The primary goal was to take something perceived as highly mundane subject and expand its horizons.

Firstly, our students exhibited a video which was aimed to showcase how the LSSL is more than simply about books, but is also inclusive of multimedia platforms such as films and video games - the point is to build a sound foundation for all variants of text, not simply the written kind. Secondly, we furthered this point by interacting with the audience and explaining to them - through the use of a slideshow - exactly what the society has done previously, and what they hope to achieve in the future; outlining exactly how we wish to be inclusive of everyone. Thirdly, quiz was held that pitted classical texts against all sorts of contemporary texts and asked the audience to guess which was which. The point of this, primarily, was to show how there is a place in the society for everyone and that the society is going to focus on more than simply traditional literature.

A Wrinkle in time

The Lahore School Society of Literature’s second session of the semester was held on Thursday, 5th November 2015, and, this time, it was all about Gothic literature and horror films - from the best of the original zombie figures like Frankenstein to your least favourite sparkling vampire, we covered it all. Whether it was the evolution of literature or just the popularity of undead children in Japanese horror flicks, we wanted to bring everyone in to show them one thing: the horror genre is one which everyone has encountered - it doesn’t matter if it was in the pages of a book or the frames of a film. We tackled this by doing three things: we showed our trademark opening video surrounding the topic; we held an oral session about the topic itself; and we had a quiz, the conclusion of which ended with both prizes and praise for those taking part!
